The thirteenth annual meeting of the Northern Minnesota Development Association opened its two days' session in Brainerd on Tuesday afternoon. In the early morning standing committees met and confer

Owing to late arrivals of delegations from Bemidji and Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis by train, and Grand Rapids by automobile, the formal opening of the convention was deferred from morning to afternoon.

An attendance of 100 delegates is expected on Wednesday by many who are now at the cement highway opening at St. Cloud.

Hibbing After Convention

Hibbing is early in the field for the summer convention of the association Their five delegates include R. W. Hitchcock, president of the Commercial club; A. P. Silliman, president of the Northern Minnesota Development Association; S. V. Saxby, secretary of the commercial club; M. H. Crocker of Stuntz; Miss Dorothy Hurlburt, librarian; and O. G. Lindberg, representing the real estate men.

Hibbing circulated literature calling attention to its new hotel, new location of the town and many other advantages of the richest village in the world.

Officers Changes

There may be changes in officers insofar as the treasureship is concerned. George Munford of Two Harbors has been reelected to a county office and so will not be a candidate for re-election.

Drive to Brainerd

Arriving before noon were two delegates who traveled by automobile. They were R. I. Bergquist of Keewatin and A. Jaffe of Nashwauk. They made the trip in less than six hours, plowing through light snow.

Afternoon Opening

In the afternoon the convention was called to order by President A. P. Silliman of Hibbing. Rev. Frederick Errington of Brainerd delivered the invocation. Mayor F. E. Little of Brainerd delegated as his spokesman O. J. Bouma, secretary of the Brainerd Chamber of Commerce, and he extended a formal welcome in behalf of the city, to which a response was made by President Stilliman.

Officers made their reports and committees were appointed.

Secretary M. N. Kol

Secretary M. N. Koll of the association, in his report said, among other things:

In the days when I drove with a horse and buggy over roads and trails and visited them at their homes, one of their probelms used to be the getting of roads upon which they could get their crops to market.

The Northern Minnesota Devolopment Association has in the past concerned itself greatly with this problem. It is almost solved now.

There was the problem of the education of the children in places which were not easy of access. The bettering of the highways and the consolidated schools have solved that.

At Deer River the building of a dormitory for high school students from remote parts of the district is a further step in advance.

Potato growing has developed wonderfully as a crop for the small farm owner as well as for the larger farmer.

Creameries are springing up all over Northern Minnesota.

We used to think that if we kept working directly for more settlers and getting them our problems would be more quickly solved.

There were those, always, in the association who argued that conditions should be made such that a settler coming in should be assured that he could have school and market facilities (which includes roads of course) sufficient to make it possible to make a living from the start.

In the timber cutting days, the timber furnished to great numbers either a product for sale, or a chance for winter work which helped to tide over beginnings. The help from the timber is getting rapidly less of a prospect. To develop from a cutover tract a chance for a livlihood takes time. Clearings are small to begin with. Why should we as developers not always concern ourselves with the problem of getting the beginner a chance to raise a maximum of cash from small cultivated acreage?

Why should we not help to get markets for crops which will yield large revenue per acre?

As I said before, creameries are here in large numbers and they furnish a year round chance for the settler.

Potatoes are a good crop for a small acreage farm, but the market is not steady enough from year to year to insure prices that will be satisfactory. Large farms can with machienry raise potatoes so easily that the market is often glutted.

Investigation and study of these problems forced the conclusion that the man with the small farm must have a crop and a market for it which will enable him to compete with the large farmer. Why not have a cucumber crop? Cucumbers always present the problem of labor. Machines have not been invented to pick cucumbers, and there does not seem a probability of such an invention. The large farmer will not be a serious competitor because there is the labor problem not solvable by machinery.

Why should not the growing of cucumbers be a profitable business the Northern Minnesota Development markets can be secured? Should not the Nortehrn Minnesota Development Association help to secure markets? The answer is that it should and is doing it as rapidly as advisable.

Arrangements are made to furnish at a number of towns the market for cucumbers for 1922. It has been tried at Cass Lake in 1921 with very satisfactory results. The 1922 expansion program will provide markets in eight or nine more towns for this product in Northern Minnesota. With what has been done in 1921 at Cass Lake in mind it is safe to predict that Northern Minnesota will receive in 1922 about $200,000.00 and a possibility of twice that figure, based on how other localities will take to growing cucumbers. That briefely is one of the things your Executive Committee has worked out as part of a development program.

When we furnish market facilities to make those who already are settled upon lands in Northern Minnesota contented and prosperous, we will have done the best possible thing to attract more settlers.

There are other ways to secure markets. tI takes investigation and some expense money to get these things done. Your Executive Committee feels that the Association is continuing to function for the good of Northern Minnesota. No effort has been made to raise large sums of money. Considerable expense is borne by members of the Executive Committee personally. With just a little more ocoperation this, which should not be necessary, would not be necessary. If you believe it worth while, will you help to provide just a little more cooperation this, wihch financial report will be read after the Auditing Committee has acted thereon.

AT SEOND MEETING ARMS CONFEENCE HELD THIS MORNING

FRANCE ASKS THAT LIMITATION OF LAND ARMAMENTS BE BROUGHT UP

SUCCESS OF CONFERENCE ASSURED THIS EARLY—GREAT BLESSING TO WORLD

The great powers of the world today approved in principle America's sweeping proposals of limitation of naval armament.

One after another the official representatives of Great Britain, Japan, Italy and France rose in conference, and accepted the American program in lauditory terms.

Balfours suggested certain reservations to the proposals as to submarine tonnage and replacements.

Japan indicated it would ask slight modifications of the replacement provisions, and France urged that limitation of land armament be brought up speedily. The conference adjourned at 112:45, subject to the call of the chairman.

Italy gave approval to the American plan.

Secretary Hughes expressed gratification at the acceptance of the powers and indicated he believes the success of the conference was assured.

The conference adjourned at 12:45, to meet on the call of the Chairman.

Secretary Hughes did not lay his far eastern program before the conference today, but announced the far eastern committee would meet Wednesday morning.

Hughes immediately called a meeting of the committee on armaments.

Balfour Praises American Move

Washington Nov. 15—America's plan for a drastic cut in naval armament was heartily and officially accepted today in spirit and principle by Great Britain through its greatest statesman, Arthur Balfour.

He suggested only two reservations—on submarines, and replacements.

Speaking to the Arms Conference in Continental Hall, hesitating here and there, he piled President Harding and Secretary Hughes with praise for America's bold move.

"The step taken by America will be epochal," he said, "and the British Empire is glad to be able to endorse the program. A suffering world would welcome it with thanks," he said.

Even a greater reduction in submarines than was proposed by the United States was the essence of the British reservation in this respect. British experts also believed, Balfour stated, that the big cruising submarines designed for offense purposes should be banned..

As to replacements, which involved the extent to which Great Britain is willing to accept the ten year naval holiday, Balfour suggested no details, merely stating that Great Britain was willing to leave both the reservations to the consideration of the conference committees.

There was not the slightest hint, however, that England was in any wise endeavoring to sabotage the ten year naval holiday as some of the representatives of the British Dominion had feared.

During his speech, Balfour read a cablegram from Premier Lloyd George, stating that the British government had closely followed the opening session, and was whole-heartedly back of the United States.

Balfour's endorsement of the American program did not in any way indicate that the British Government believes it too drastic in its essential features.

France Appeals for Land Disarmament

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Limiting of land armaments must be brought before the Arms Conference soon, Premier Briand of France said today in his reply accepting America's program of cutting naval armaments.

Briand asserted that the question of land armaments must come before the conference—will come before it.

"When the time comes," said Premier Briand, "France will accept your appeal. I have listened with great joy to the generous adhesion to America's naval plan by Great Britain and Japan."

Briand said that if disarmament were merely a question of disarmament, it would be unworthy of the conference.

"No," he cried, "The question is whether the people of the world have at last found a way to come to agreement to prevent the horrors of war."

Japan Accepts

By A. L. BRADFORD

"Japan accepts in principle the American plan for limiation of armament," Admiral Baron Kato, head of the imperial Japanese Navy declared before the Arms Conference today.

His statement followed the official declaration of Great Britain that the proposal of the United States would be accepted. He said that Japan, like Great Britain, would propose modifications of the Amreican proposals regarding replacement.

Kato brought the great crowd to its feet when he declared Japan is willing for "sweeping reductions," in its navy.

"I must speak simply, concisely, and above all, frankly," said Kato. "A few modifications relating to replacements of certain classes of ships will be subjected for consideration of naval experts," he said. "Japan never has, and does not now desire a navy equal to those of the United States or England, but wants only the armament necessary to defense," he said.

The brief speech was greatly applauded.

U. S. Will Expand Naval Program if Conference Fails

By LAWRENCE M. BENEDICT,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

If the huge proposals for limitation of naval armament are turned down by the other powers, the United States proposes to immediately add 14 first line vessels to the 16 now partially built, and rush all thirty war vessels to completion in a few years, members of Congress have been informed.

This word came from men very close to President Harding, and in his intimate confidence. They declined to be quoted.

"In case the conference fails, the American people will understand what is before them, and will not allow this government to stand unprotected," Representative Butler of Pentnsylvania, Chairman of the United States Naval Affairs Committee, said today.

This is not the time to make or imply a threat. But should the conference fail, the course of the United States is clear. We must protect ourselves." Butler said that both England and Japan have known for weeks just how drastic a proposal was to be made by this government, and that the delegates from those nations "came here prepared to accept."

Tokio, Nov. 15.—Hirohito, crown prince of Japan, may soon be made regent, with practically all the powers of emperor, it was learned on highest authority here today.

Some think that before the Washington conference is a month or six weeks old, Hirohito's regency will have commenced.

This action is now being considered by the counsel of the state because of the ill health of the emperor, who has been kept from performing the functions of his position for some time.

When Hirohito becomes regent, he will virtually be emperor of Japan. No one knows how long thereafter it will be before he will have the mikadoship.

Some weeks ago the health of the Mikado was announced as grave, and since then newspapers have been forbidden to discuss his health.

FRENCH HIGH COUNCIL DISCUSS ARMS PARLEY

Paris, Nov. 15.—The Superior Council of national defense met with President Millerand this afternoon to discuss the Washington -Arms Conference.

Among those attending were the minister of war, and minister of marines.

AT SEOND MEETING ARMS CONFEENCE HELD THIS MORNING

FRANCE ASKS THAT LIMITATION OF LAND ARMAMENTS BE BROUGHT UP

SUCCESS OF CONFERENCE ASSURED THIS EARLY—GREAT BLESSING TO WORLD

The great powers of the world today approved in principle America's sweeping proposals of limitation of naval armament.

One after another the official representatives of Great Britain, Japan, Italy and France rose in conference, and accepted the American program in lauditory terms.

Balfours suggested certain reservations to the proposals as to submarine tonnage and replacements.

Japan indicated it would ask slight modifications of the replacement provisions, and France urged that limitation of land armament be brought up speedily. The conference adjourned at 112:45, subject to the call of the chairman.

Italy gave approval to the American plan.

Secretary Hughes expressed gratification at the acceptance of the powers and indicated he believes the success of the conference was assured.

The conference adjourned at 12:45, to meet on the call of the Chairman.

Secretary Hughes did not lay his far eastern program before the conference today, but announced the far eastern committee would meet Wednesday morning.

Hughes immediately called a meeting of the committee on armaments.

Balfour Praises American Move

Washington Nov. 15—America's plan for a drastic cut in naval armament was heartily and officially accepted today in spirit and principle by Great Britain through its greatest statesman, Arthur Balfour.

He suggested only two reservations—on submarines, and replacements.

Speaking to the Arms Conference in Continental Hall, hesitating here and there, he piled President Harding and Secretary Hughes with praise for America's bold move.

"The step taken by America will be epochal," he said, "and the British Empire is glad to be able to endorse the program. A suffering world would welcome it with thanks," he said.

Even a greater reduction in submarines than was proposed by the United States was the essence of the British reservation in this respect. British experts also believed, Balfour stated, that the big cruising submarines designed for offense purposes should be banned..

As to replacements, which involved the extent to which Great Britain is willing to accept the ten year naval holiday, Balfour suggested no details, merely stating that Great Britain was willing to leave both the reservations to the consideration of the conference committees.

There was not the slightest hint, however, that England was in any wise endeavoring to sabotage the ten year naval holiday as some of the representatives of the British Dominion had feared.

During his speech, Balfour read a cablegram from Premier Lloyd George, stating that the British government had closely followed the opening session, and was whole-heartedly back of the United States.

Balfour's endorsement of the American program did not in any way indicate that the British Government believes it too drastic in its essential features.

France Appeals for Land Disarmament

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Limiting of land armaments must be brought before the Arms Conference soon, Premier Briand of France said today in his reply accepting America's program of cutting naval armaments.

Briand asserted that the question of land armaments must come before the conference—will come before it.

"When the time comes," said Premier Briand, "France will accept your appeal. I have listened with great joy to the generous adhesion to America's naval plan by Great Britain and Japan."

Briand said that if disarmament were merely a question of disarmament, it would be unworthy of the conference.

"No," he cried, "The question is whether the people of the world have at last found a way to come to agreement to prevent the horrors of war."

Japan Accepts

By A. L. BRADFORD

"Japan accepts in principle the American plan for limitation of armament," Admiral Baron Kato, head of the imperial Japanese Navy declared before the Arms Conference today.

His statement followed the official declaration of Great Britain that the proposal of the United States would be accepted. He said that Japan, like Great Britain, would propose modifications of the Amreican proposals regarding replacement.

Kato brought the great crowd to its feet when he declared Japan is willing for "sweeping reductions," in its navy.

"I must speak simply, concisely, and above all, frankly," said Kato. "A few modifications relating to replacements of certain classes of ships will be subjected for consideration of naval experts," he said. "Japan never has, and does not now desire a navy equal to those of the United States or England, but wants only the armament necessary to defense," he said.

The brief speech was greatly applauded.

U. S. Will Expand Naval Program if Conference Fails

By LAWRENCE M. BENEDICT,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

If the huge proposals for limitation of naval armament are turned down by the other powers, the United States proposes to immediately add 14 first line vessels to the 16 now partially built, and rush all thirty war vessels to completion in a few years, members of Congress have been informed.

This word came from men very close to President Harding, and in his intimate confidence. They declined to be quoted.

"In case the conference fails, the American people will understand what is before them, and will not allow this government to stand unprotected," Representative Butler of Pentnsylvania, Chairman of the United States Naval Affairs Committee, said today.

This is not the time to make or imply a threat. But should the conference fail, the course of the United States is clear. We must protect ourselves." Butler said that both England and Japan have known for weeks just how drastic a proposal was to be made by this government, and that the delegates from those nations "came here prepared to accept."

(Copyright, 1921, United Press.)

Tokio, Nov. 15.—Hirohito, crown prince of Japan, may soon be made regent, with practically all the powers of emperor, it was learned on highest authority here today.

Some think that before the Washington conference is a month or six weeks old, Hirohito's regency will have commenced.

This action is now being considered by the counsel of the state because of the ill health of the emperor, who has been kept from performing the functions of his position for some time.

When Hirohito becomes regent, he will virtually be emperor of Japan. No one knows how long thereafter it will be before he will have the mikadoship.

Some weeks ago the health of the Mikado was announced as grave, and since then newspapers have been forbidden to discuss his health.

BANKERS TELL WHY THE MARK SLUMPS

By CARL D. GROAT,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

New York, Nov. 10—Is Germany forcing the mark down artificially with a view to dodging her reparations obligations?

This question, propounded in France and America, is answered with an emphatic negative by both American and German bankers with whom I have been in contact. They say that the enormous purchases of foreign currency Germany must make to meet her reparations obligations is the main cause for the big slump in the mark the past few months. They predict this slump will continue so long as the present reparations conditions are maintained.

I presented the question to Director Paul Mankiewit of the Deutsche bank, Berlin, before leaving Berlin. He answered quickly.

"One ought not to consider the German government foolish. It hasn't the slightest interest in depressing the mark. * * * From Churchill's speech and Lloyd George's dealings, it ought to be clear to the whole world that responsible quarters in Germany and the entente have gained the impression that the whole reparations demands, including the ultimatum, are built on uncertain ground."

He pointed out that the government must pay vastly more for its railroad and waterways material, for wages and salaries under a falling mark, and that a constant depreciation makes it impossible to present a real budget. Under such circumstances, he maintained, it could scarcely be to the government's advantage to try artificial depression. As for playing into the hands of industry thereby, Mankiewitz observed: "German prices are such that nobody can compete with them now; industry doesn't need any such help from the government." He shares the view of other German bankers that a different method of reparations payments or periods must be devised.

American bankers, familiar with the situation, also tell me that there can be no talk of an artificial play. Such a thing would be too risky, they say, for it would lead to a crash worse than the process of meeting reparations. They agree with Mankiewitz that a readjustment in the reparations matter would strengthen the market and tend to make Germany a less formidable competitor on the world market, where now she undersells because of low exchange.

BACH FEATURED IN PROGRAM GIVEN

Mrs. Zelle's Pleasing Personality, Gracious Manner, Purity of Tone Charms Musical Club

VIOLIN RECITAL ON SATURDAY

Mrs. Dahl's Skill as an Accompanist Also Gains Well Merited Commendation from Audience

It is difficult to secure a program of music that is at once high class, artistic and popular, but that is what the Musical club hostesses succeeded in doing, on Saturday afternoon.

To make Bach palatable to a miscellaneous audience (that is, an audience not composed strictly of musicians) requires true artistry, and that is what Mrs. Zelle succeeded in doing. True, her pleasing personality, and gracious manner may have had something to do with it, but the purity and sweetness of her tones and her sympathetic interpretation of this classical composer was what really counted.

Mrs. Zelle's partiality for Bach may account for one other number on her program, the "Prize Song" from the Meistereinger as one of the striking features of that opera is the profusion of the counterpoint.

The first number, a Gade sonata, was really a duet, the piano substituting for the orchestra and playing quite as difficult a score as the violin. Mrs. Dahl's skill brought out the orchestral possibilities of the piano ranging from a delicate thread of sound to great waves of harmony. Mrs. John Dahl is a favorite in Brainerd, where her talent first became known while she was a summer resident at Hubert lake.

Mrs. Zelle's encores were well chosen, a minuet by J. K. Bauer, of Minneapolis orchestra fame, and Kreisler's arangement of a Hindo chant by Piusky Koreakow, that has been popularized through its use as a fox trot.

The program was delightfully varied by a group of three songs by another Brainerd favorite, Mrs. Harry Smith, with Mrs. W. A. Erickson at the piano in the difficult role of accompanist. Both ladies added to their popularity by this appearance. Mrs. Smith's encore was a charming trifle, "To You", by Myrtle Reed.

The entire program was as follows:

Sonata ..... Gade
Adagio ..... Bach
Preislied ..... Wagner (Meistersinger)
Lillian Nippert Zelle, with Mrs. Mrs. John Dahl accompany
Melisande in the Wood ..... Goetz
English Airs—Twenty and Eighteen ..... Taylor
'Tis Snowing ..... Bremberg
Mrs. Harry Smith, with Mrs. W. A. Erickson accompany
Aria, G. String ..... Baci
Through the Snow ..... Cecil Burleigh
Vienesse Melody ..... Kreisler
Mrs. Zelle

The hostesses were Miss Winifred Small and Mesdames Hoffman, LaBar, Spencer, Turcotte and Whitney.

BUILT TEN TABLES

House and Social Committee of Chamber of Commerce Solves Lack of Chamber of Commerce Furniture

Instead of being short-handed, as is the case with many committees, twelve men responded to the chairman's call and worked until midnight, finishing ten splendid tables. This committee displays the spirit which will not only build up a more efficient organization but will do much towards building a bigger and better Brainerd.

ICE HOUSE AND LIGHT HOUSE

"The Difference Between Them is Largely One of Outlook", says Dr. Geo. E. Burlingame

SPOKE AT 1ST BAPTIST CHURCH

Preacher Discussed the Mission of the Church and the Duty of Every Christian

"The difference between an ice-house and a light-house is largely one of outlook," said Geo. E. Burlingame in a sermon last night at the First Baptist church; "the ice house has no contact with the world no outlook on the world, while the light house is all windows and it may shed its radiance into the darkness everywhere."

The preacher discussed the mission of the church and the duty of every Christian to be an ambassador for God to carry the message of reconciliation to their neighbors and to all the world. This, he declared, is the normal and constant function of the Church; and evangelism should be not a sporadic and occasional effort but a characteristic of the perennial life of the church. A bonfire on the lake sore makes a spectacular blaze for a brief hour, and then flickers out and darkness returns; but a light house shines the long night through with unflagging brilliance and power. So every loyal Christian should be concerned every day to win others to the Christian faith and life, "shining like stars in the dark world, holding forth the word of life".

The first of the afternoon services was held today (Tuesday) at 2:30 o'clock at the First Baptist church, where all of the meetings this week are conducted. Mr. Burlingame will speak each evening at 7:45.

A special service for grade school children wil be held at the close of school Thursday afternoon, and the evening service of Friday will be especially for young people of high school age. A musical program of interest will be provided for this service.

First Congregational Aid

The Ladies Aid of the First Congregational church will meet tomorrow afternoon in the basement of the church at 3 o'clock, Mrs. T. D. Jones, Mrs. William Mahood and Mrs. A. C. Weber will entertain. An invitation is extended to the men of the church at the regular supper hour.

Club Meeting

A meeting of the Womans Nonpartisan club will be held Tuesday, Nov. 15, at the Trade and Labor small hall at 8 o'clock. Important business is to come up, said the secretary.

INTERCOUNTY CONFERENCE

On Child Welfare Work to Be Held in Brainerd November 29 and 30

At the meeting of the Child Welfare Boards held in connection with the State Conference of Social Work at Hibbing in September, it was decided that there was need for small group conferences of Child Welfare Boards. Attendance at the State Conference is usually impossible for a large number, whereas it was thought that local conferences, if conveniently located, would offer an opportunity for every member of each board invited to attend. The opinion was expressed that such meetings would be a valuable means of discussing methods of investigation, standards and ideals of work and exchanging experience in specially interesting cases.

The state committee on regional conferences consisting of five members chosen from among the Child Welfare Boards follow:

Mrs. J. M. Bishop, Thief River, Pennington county; Mrs. Eugene Disudonne, Janesville, Waseca county; Mrs. W. H. Gemmell, Brainerd, Crow Wing county; Mrs. S. H. Johnson, Appleton, Swift county; Mrs. Frank Murray, Bird Island, Renville county.

One of the first of these intercounty conferences will be held in Brainerd November 29th and 30th, and will include Crow Wing, Morrison and Aitkin counties. The local committee, consisting of one representative from each board, is as follows:

Diplomatic Bob.

Bob and I were out sailing when the boat was capsized by a sudden shifting breeze, writes a correspondent of the Chicago Journal. While we were in the water, clinging to the boat, Bob proposed. I remember I said "yes" for fear he would let me drown if I refused. As soon as he had his answer he said "The water is shallow here, so let's not bother righting the boat. We can just walk to shore."

Preacher Discussed the Mission of the Church and the Duty of Every Christian

"The difference between an ice-house and a light-house is largely one of outlook," said Geo. E. Burlingame in a sermon last night at the First Baptist church; "the ice house has no contact with the world no outlook on the world, while the light house is all windows and it may shed its radiance into the darkness everywhere."

The preacher discussed the mission of the church and the duty of every Christian to be an ambassador for God to carry the message of reconciliation to their neighbors and to all the world. This, he declared, is the normal and constant function of the Church; and evangelism should be not a sporadic and occasional effort but a characteristic of the perennial life of the church. A bonfire on the lake sore makes a spectacular blaze for a brief hour, and then flickers out and darkness returns; but a light house shines the long night through with unflagging briliance and power. So every loyal Christian should be concerned every day to win others to the Christian faith and life, "shining like stars in the dark world, holding forth the word of life".

The first of the afternoon services was held today (Tuesday) at 2:30 o'clock at the First Baptist church, where all of the meetings this week are conducted. Mr. Burlingame will speak each evening at 7:45.

A special service for grade school children wil be held at the close of school Thursday afternoon, and the evening service of Friday will be especially for young people of high school age. A musical program of interest will be provided for this service.

INTERCOUNTY CONFERENCE

On Child Welfare Work to Be Held in Brainerd November 29 and 30

At the meeting of the Child Welfare Boards held in connection with the State Conference of Social Work at Hibbing in September, it was decided that there was need for small group conferences of Child Welfare Boards. Attendance at the State Conference is usually impossible for a large number, whereas it was thought that local conferences, if conveniently located, would offer an opportunity for every member of each board invited to attend. The opinion was expressed that such meetings would be a valuable means of discussing methods of investigation, standards and ideals of work and exchanging experience in specially interesting cases.

The state committee on regional conferences consisting of five members chosen from among the Child Welfare Boards follow:

Mrs. J. M. Bishop, Thief River, Pennington county; Mrs. Eugene Disudonne, Janesville, Waseca county; Mrs. W. H. Gemmell, Brainerd, Crow Wing county; Mrs. S. H. Johnson, Appleton, Swift county; Mrs. Frank Murray, Bird Island, Renville county.

One of the first of these intercounty conferences will be held in Brainerd November 29th and 30th, and will include Crow Wing, Morrison and Aitkin counties. The local committee, consisting of one representative from each board, is as follows:

Dr. B. I. Derauf, Brainerd, Crow Wing county; Mrs. L. D. Brown, Little Falls, Morrison county; Miss Iva Posten, Aitkin, Aitkin county.

Diplomatic Bob.

Bob and I were out sailing when the boat was capsized by a sudden shifting breeze, writes a correspondent of the Chicago Journal. While we were in the water, clinging to the boat, Bob proposed. I remember I said "yes" for fear he would let me drown if I refused. As soon as he had his answer he said "The water is shallow here, so let's not bother righting the boat. We can just walk to shore."

MEMBER Minnesota Editorial Association ORGANIZED 1867

UNION LABEL

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1921

WELCOME, N. M. D. A.

The Northern Minnesota Development Association opened a two days' session in Brainerd today, with a good attendance of representative "boosters" from nearly every county and many communities of Nothern Minnesota.

This is the thirteenth annual convention of the association, and during the thirteen years since its organization much history has been made, and a great deal has been accomplished in the work of development by these typical Minnesota "boosters." Among the many progressive projects engaging the attention may be briefly enumerated legislative reapportionment, settlement, land clearing, drainage, soil utilization, and others of similar character for the development and improvement of the state. These are all vital problems, and much progress has been made in solving them by the active work and powerful influence of members of the Development Association. And all that has been done is for the betterment of Northern Minnesota.

Hereafter, according to Secretary M. N. Koll, the work of the association will probably be less in the line of direct "boosting" to get new settlers, and more in the line of helping those already here to develop their land and become prosperous. "Making those who are here contented and happy," says Mr. Koll, "will in the opinion of the present officers do more for Northern Minnesota than calling in a lot more than we are ready to care for Satisfying those who are here will bring others faster than any other method."

That is the true spirit of Northern Minnesota, and the Northern Minnesota Development Association is indeed doing a noble work in carrying it out.

The people of Brainerd feel honored in the presence of these gentlemen in their midst. The hope is entertained that their stay in our city may prove both pleasant and profitable, and we assure them that they will always have the good wishes and the cordial and enthusiastic support of the community in their work.

You are welcome, gentlemen of the N. M. D. A., thrice welcome! We welcome you as honored guests of the citizens of Brainerd.

OVER HALF DON'T VOTE

An interesting fact has been developed by recent census bureau reports. According to the census count and compilations the potential voting strength of the United tates is 54,541,832 persons, there being 27,661,880 men and 26,759,952 women twenty-one years of age and over classed as citizens. These figures are of striking significance in view of the fact that at the last presidential election, a year ago, the total vote cast was only 26,661,606, although the women of the country were fully enfranchised for the first time.

Taking the figures just announced as practically representative of the population at the time of the election it would appear that more Americans entitled to vote cast no ballots than actually went to the polls. In other words, less than 50 per cent of the possible voters exercised the privilege of the ballot.

BEER AND LIGHT WINES

The Luverne Herald declares that while "in public Mr. Volstead appeared as completely flabbergasted by the decision of the Treasury Department to permit the use of beer and light wines as medicine, in private he is said to openly admit that 'we will have to come to light wines and beer'."

It was not the Treasury Department however, that permitted the use of beer and light wines. That interpretation was put upon the law by Attorney General Palmer, of President Wilson's cabinet. All the Treasury Department had to do with it was, because of this decision, to prepare rules guarding the sale of beer and light wines when sold for medicinal purposes, and this was in fact, delayed for several months with the expectation that Congress would promptly amend the law so as to prohibit such sales, in which expectation the Treasury officials were disappointed.

CLOSE ESTIMATING

The latest estimate figures the cost o fthe great war at $355,291,719,815. Some figures, sure! It is not explained why this estimator didn't go a little further and add a decimal point and 98 cents. It is simply ridiculous to attempt to fix such a total to the nearest dollar. A result correct to the nearest ten billion dollars is as accurate as any human being can guess at. We all know the war took an awful toll in lives and money, but the Conference now in session at Washington bids fair to prevent such wastes in the future.

The internal revenue collections in Minnesota last month were only $2,944,646.15, as against $4,296,485.29 in October, 1920. Evidently our people are not traveling so much, they are not using so much ice cream, soft drinks and near beer, they are smoking less and they are not attending the "movies" as they did last year. Perhaps they haven't the spare coin.

Speaking of the plan of the Nonpartisan League leaders to endorse candidates of either party acceptable to the League, in Minnesota next year, the Detroit Record says: "Here in Becker county an endorsement from the League, if made public, would prove disastrous to the one receiving it."

The State of Illinois is contributing to the relief of unemployment by pushing work on the waterway that is to connect Chicago and the Great Lakes with the Mississippi river and the Gulf of Mexico. It is an object lesson that other states could follow with profit.

Nothwithstanding all precautions we have plenty of punctures on the road back to normalcy.

The French motto for the German government appears to be: "Give till it hurts or it'll hurt till you give."

Goes to Stillwater at Hard Labor, Was Arrested at Cromwell by Village Constable

Jacob Casperson in district court Tuesday morning before Judge W. S. McClenahan pleaded guilty to attempted robbery, first degree, of the National bank of Aitkin. Miss Toan dropped behind the desk, the cashier turned on the burglar alarm and the bandit fled without money and later was arrested at Cromwell by a constable.

County Attorney Louis Hallum brought the bandit to Brainerd to plead in court. Judge McClenahan sentenced Casperson to hard labor at Stillwater, on an indeterminate term ranging from 5 to 20 years.

The Mississippi is still open at Brainerd. A little shore ice was in evidence near The Northwest Paper Company. At Little Falls it is reported the river froze over on November 12. The earliest date it ever froze there was in the phenomenally cold and long winter five years ago, when the date was October 30, 1916. That was the winter when coal was used seven months.

BENEFIT SHOW TO GAIN PHONOGRAPH

Joint Parent-Teachers Association of Washington and Lincoln Schools to Have Benefit Performance

AT THE NEW PARK THEATRE

Manager Force Fortunate in Securing a Distinctive American Picture for the Occasion

The joint Parent-Teachers association of the Washington and Lincoln schools is to have a benefit performance at the New Park theatre Friday, November 25th, the day after Thanksgiving. Through the efforts of A. W. Force, of the New Park theatre, they have been fortunate in securing a distinctive American picture, Wanda Hawley in "The Snob." There will also be a rollicking comedy.

The purpose of this benefit performance is to provide funds to purchase a Victrola for the Lincoln school. If more than the amount necessary to purchase a Victrola is eralized, the surplus will be expended in worthwhile records.

A phonograph has come to be almost a necessity in school life. Its uses are many an dvaried. Not only is it used in the primary and lower grades, but as an aid to history classes it is looked upon with much favor by the educators. Speeches by well-known persons on topics of historic interest or current events are given in the class room by means of the Victrola, the pupils following every word with interest.

At the recreation hour the pupils often gather in the halls, and an impromptu concert is given. Their studies are resumed with more vigor after being refreshed by hearing inspring music and an appreciation of music, artists and the opera is quickened in their minds and hearts.

Two matinees will be given Friday afternoon, one at 2:15 and another at 4 o'clock, especially for the school children. In the evening the usual two performances will be given, the first beginning at 7:15. Those who purchase tickets for this worthy cause will have the satisfaction of knowing they are helping to provide the children of the Lincoln school with the opportunity to hear the noblest thoughts of vigorous minds, and the most noted singers in the world right here in their own school rooms.

AMUSEMENTS

At the Lyceum Tonight

The versatile Nell Shipman is just that in her latest production, "Girls From God's Country." She is the author, star and co-director of a picture which gives her a dual role, and which has a plot into which are crammed all sorts of intrigue, adventure and mystery.

In "The Girl From God's Country" there are some excellent "great outdoor" scenes; plenty of attractive animal shots; a well selected cast; and an abundance of real action. Miss Shipman knows full well the charm of the "snow country" to a picture audience. This is undeniable. She introduces herself as "Neeka," the French Canadian girl, hurrying in a crude canoe through the rapids to save an endangered puppy, and from then on her outdoor scenes are well nigh perfect. "Neeka" is a wild, untamed young thing—"one of nature's vampires"—and when the story allows her to mingle with society people it affords opportunity for humorous subtitles. Also there is a very slight resemblance to the "female Tarzan" role, with its consequent appeal. It is to be repeated again tonight for the last time.

At the Lyceum Tomorrow

When "Such a Little Queen" was originally produced in 1908, the critics and the public chose to receive it as they had received "Peter Pan"—as a gorgeous piece of fantasy and make-believe.

It was incredible, in those days, that a European monarch should be dethroned and forced to toil for daily bread in an alien land. Why, such a thing never had been done that was all

The world war, and the sight of numerous royal persons tilling the soil, chopping wood, nursing the sick and otherwise making themselves useful as well as decorative, have made Mr. Pollock's famous play much more convincing. Showing at the Lyceum tomorrow and Thursday.

At the New Park Tonight

Constance Talmadge, with her winning smile and vivacious charm, registers a new screen triumph in her latest vehicle, "Woman's Place," which as is usual in the case of a Constance Talmadge picture, opened to a packed house at the New Park theatre last night.

The sprightly and capricious Constance romps through several reels of the brightest and most entertaining comedy it has been the writer's good fortunate to see in many days.

The sparkling wit and subtle satire of John Emerson and Anita Loos, who wrote the story for Constance, stand out plainly and in point of merit secondary only to the delightful interpretation which the star has given her part.

Miss Talmadge has the role of Josephine Gerson, a pretty young lady, who on her return from Paris is induced to run as a candidate for mayor of the town.

The male opposition selects a young aristocrat to run against the charming candidate. A laughable chain of events follows, not the least extraordinary of which is that the boss of the opposition party falls in love with her.

Shown the last time tonight at the New Park.

Tomorrow at the New Park

The reason why he never smiles on the screen was explained by Buster Keaton recently while making his latest comedy, "The Playhouse," which will be shown at the New Park theatre tomorrow and Thursday.

"Smile and the world smiles with you; weep and you weep alone," he quoted. "That's fine, but it doesn't say that someone else won't smile if you weep. I don't believe in weeping but I thing people get a lot more enjoyment in watching me on the screen if I don't wear a stand-up-and-starched silly grin throughout the picture. Anyway, I'm too busy being tossed and knocked around to spend much time in smiling.

"Sometimes when I go to a theatre and see some comedian grinning after he has finished some stunt it makes me feel the same as when I hear a witty fellow tell a funny story and then gets in the first laugh on it. Still, it's being done by some of our very best comedians and I'm not criticising them for showing their molars whenever they see fit."

But, although on the screen Buster generally resembles a thirsty man in a dry town, he has been known to smile—particularly on pay-days, and specifically on the day he married Natalie Talmadge. But beyond that, history is silent on the topic.

Choice Cuts —and Others

A few weeks ago a newspaper man visited one of the wholesale markets of Swift & Company. He wanted to see a retailer buy a loin of beef and then watch the retailer sell the porterhouse and sirloin steaks from it over his counter. He thought this would make a good story.

The head of the market took the reporter into the "cooler" where he showed him a high class side of beef. With a wooden skewer he marked off the loin and said, "That would cost a retailer just 40 cents a pound, but it's only 8 per cent of the weight of the whole side.

"This piece, (and he marked off about one-fourth of the carcass) is the chuck and I'll sell it at wholesale for 7 cents a pound. Please remember, this is one of our best sides of beef. We also have beef which sells for half as much."

This wide variation in the price of various cuts from the same side of beef is caused largely by demand for the tender cuts. The others are, of course, just as wholesome.

It seems as though more people than ever are demanding choicer cuts, and their demand sets the price. If few people ask for the forequarter cuts, the price of forequarters will automatically drop to a figure low enough to induce people to buy because of cheapness.

Even though certain cuts sell for relatively high prices, other cuts, due to lack of demand, sell so low that our profit from all sources over a period of five years averaged only a fraction of a cent a pound.

It is competition between consumers for the choice cuts that keeps prices for those cuts relatively high; an equalizing demand for all parts of the carcass would benefit producer, packer, retailer and consumer.

Our average wholesale selling price of all products has fallen about 40 per cent since September 1920.

AMUSEMENTS

At the Lyceum Tonight

The versatile Nell Shipman is just that in her latest production, "Girls From God's Country." She is the author, star and co-director of a picture which gives her a dual role, and which has a plot into which are crammed all sorts of intrigue, adventure and mystery.

In "The Girl From God's Country" there are some excellent "great outdoor" scenes; plenty of attractive animal shots; a well selected cast; and an abundance of real action. Miss Shipman knows full well the charm of the "snow country" to a picture audience. This is undeniable. She introduces herself as "Neeka," the French Canadian girl, hurrying in a crude canoe through the rapids to save an endangered puppy, and from then on her outdoor scenes are well nigh perfect. "Neeka" is a wild, untamed young thing—"one of nature's vampires"—and when the story allows her to mingle with society people it affords opportunity for humorous subtitles. Also there is a very slight resemblance to the "female Tarzan" role, with its consequent appeal. It is to be repeated again tonight for the last time.

At the Lyceum Tomorrow

When "Such a Little Queen" was originally produced in 1908, the critics and the public chose to receive it as they had received "Peter Pan"—as a gorgeous piece of fantasy and make-believe.
